Loss of Bartholamew McDermott.

[Elko Independent, Feb. 26.]

From John T. McDermott, brother of the unfortunate man whose fate we are are about to record, who, in company with Green Williams—the companion of McDermott in their mountain camp—arrived from a fruitless search for the lost one, we obtain the following particulars of the distressful affair: On the 14th of last month, the brothers McDermott, accompanied by Williams and a couple of hired men, started from here with John McDermott's team, loaded with provisions and outfit for the establishment of two camps in the mountains for the cutting of wood and timbers, ranches having been located on Beaver Creek, near the Carlin road and near the Mountain City road further north. The former camp was reached on the 16th, where the party remained one day, and leaving the hired men, the brothers and Williams started with the team and a portion of the outfit for the camp north, stopping at the Meadows the evening of the next day. On the day following they struck across the country to the Mountain City road, and arrived at the mouth of Rogers' Creek on the 20th. As the team could get no nearer, the next two days were spent in packing the supplies to camp, twelve miles beyond. Leaving Bart and Williams, John then returned with the team, arriving here on the 23d, and reached home in Lamoille Valley on the following day. Nothing was heard of the party until the 18th of this month, when visiting Elko for the first time since the 23d ultimo, John took from the Postoffice a letter directed to him by Williams, dated Tuscarora, Feb. 3d, stating that his brother Bart. had been lost in the mountains since the 31st of January, and all his efforts to find him had been unavailing. John at once telegraphed to Tuscarora, but could only learn that the search was continued. Knowing Bart. had business in Eureka, his brother clung to the hope that he had gone there without informing Williams, but a dispatch from Hiram Johnson of that place soon dispelled that doubt, and no ground for the belief in the possibility of his being yet alive, remained, and the grief-stricken brother set out in the sad task of searching for the body.

Arriving at Tuscarora, show-shoes and other equipments for the search were provided, and with Oregon John, a man familiar with the mountains of that locality, as a guide, and two other men to assist, John started for the camp near which his brother was lost, but owing to the steep ascents and heavy snow encountered, after a long protracted struggle, the guide became exhausted when within three miles of the camp, and as the balance of the party were almost tired out from incessant exertion, they were reluctantly compelled to abandon the attempt and return. Had they succeeded in reaching the camp, however, nothing could have possibly been gained in the way of discovery, for since McDermott left the camp on the 31st, several feet of snow has fallen upon those mountains, its depth ranging from four to twenty feet.

Mr. Williams' statement is that McDermott started about 9 o'clock in the morning to prospect a road from the timber for use in the Spring, and as it was snowing lightly at the time, he attempted to dissuade the latter from the undertaking, but fearing no danger, being a hardy man and accustomed to the mountains, he set out, saying he would return before dark. About 1 o'clock the threatened storm set in, snowing and blowing furiously, and continued to rage until 4 o'clock on the following morning.

McDermott not returning as agreed, Williams, fearing the worst, kept a large fire blazing outside of the cabin during the night, hoping its light might attract the absent man, but he for whom the lonely vigil was kept, came not, and as soon as the storm ceased Williams set out in search of his absent companion, which he continued alone for two days and finding no trace of him he sought, he then struck out for Tuscarora and sent the letter referred to, to John McDermott. This being accomplished, he bravely made his way back and continued the almost helpless search for his friend, during the next ten days toiling through storms on his humane mission. Until the snows shall have melted from the mountains, all efforts of friends or relatives to discover the body, will prove unavailing. Thus one more victim is added to the long list of hardy men who through over-confidence in themselves have perished amid the snows of our mountain fastnesses.

The McDermott brothers are old residents of this county and are recognized among its best citizens as men of sterling worth. No labor or expense has been spared by John to recover the body of his lost brother, and the warm sympathies of all acquainted with the facts in this sad case are extended to himself and family in their deep and trying affliction.

England continues her war preparations.

A DIVER'S ADVENTURE.—I dove once in Mobile Bay, where I put over three hundred chains under an iron-clad. The greatest annoyance that we had there was sharks. They didn't hardly dare tackle us, because with our armors we looked more like scare-crows than anything else. They would come sailing along, and gradually swim up toward us with their great big wide mouth open, but when within a few feet of us they would stop and lay there flapping their fins, and looking, it seemed to me, like the very divil himself. Finally we devised a way to scare them off that never failed to frighten them so that they would stay away an hour or longer before they would dare to come back. The armor that we wear is air-tight, you know. Our jacket-sleeves were fastened aroud our wrists with an elastic, so that the air could not escape. By running my finger under the sleeve of my jacket I could let the air out, and as it rushed into the water it would make a sort of hissing noise, and a volume of bubbles would shoot up. So, whenever those infernal sharks would come prowling around me I would let a lot of air out and send a stream of bubbles into the shark's face with a hissing noise like steam from a guage cock. The way those sharks would go scooting off was funny to behold.

It has been raining continuously in Oregon for six weeks. The crops in the low lands are completely drowned out, and even the hill farms are seriously damaged.

THE IMMENSE DESTRUCTION OF human life annually from secret and chronic diseases, caused this old and reliable institution to be established, first in Philadelphia, Penn., in 1850, and afterwards in San Francisco, Cal., in 1854, as a private dispensary, in order to afford the afflicted the best medical and surgical treatment, for the above and all other affections and complaints. Consultation at the Institute, or by letter, FREE.
To the Afflicted:
Dr. L. J. Czapkay would most respectfully inform the public of the Pacific coast that, at the earnest solicitation of his numerous friends, and hundreds of those unfortunately afflicted with disease, he has reopened his MEDICAL AND SURGICAL INSTITUTE and resumed the practice of his profession. The Doctor would remind all those who are in need of medical aid, that since relinquishing his very extensive and successful practice in San Francisco, he has visited the principal cities in Europe, inspecting diligently the experience of the most learned in the profession, the benefit from which he offers to all in need of his services. Rheumatic affections, chronic catarrh, diseases of the stomach and kidneys, liver complaints, etc., successfully treated. THURSDAY.....FEBRUARY 28, 1878.

Public Timber.

A dispatch from Washington dated February 27th relates the contents of a letter from Special Agent Hobbs of the Interior Department, in regard to certain prosecutions commenced against lumbermen in Nevada county. The principal defendants are Lonkey & Smith, the Truckee Lumber Co., and Sisson, Wallace & Co. These three firms are charged with cutting 24,532 trees which were the property of the Government. If these charges were susceptible of specific proof, and could the damage be traced directly to the real offenders, no discussion would be necessary, except in a court of justice. The theory, however, that justice is blindfolded will probably receive much support from the future conduct of these cases. Special Agent Hobbs has foreshadowed this in his communication, by saying that "the real delinquents cannot always be found without having testimony." He means that the theory of public prosecution in this class of offenses contemplates that payment shall be made by somebody. If the man who cut the timber is not to be found, the one who bought it must take his place, and, in the same way, if the sub-contractors have all disappeared, the mill man after paying for his logs must pay the Government again at a punitive rate of four times its value.

It will be said that this course is necessary for a protection of public property, and this may be the case where blind lines and hasty surveys bound the Government's property, but if the services of a special agent had been used at first to establish these lines and protect this property, the Department would have been spared the occasion for these prosecutions. It seems as though the present theory contemplated the infringement now complained of as more profitable than the ordinary methods of bargain and sale. Could the land trespassed upon be bought in ordinary ways there would be no excuse for the trespasser. Nor is there any excuse whereby he ought to escape a payment of the full value of timber taken, but a prosecution which compels him to pay five times for this timber is unjust, and for the following reasons:

There can be no proof given that the Government land was clearly defined; such a prosecution would make a mill man responsible for the honesty of every contractor who agreed to furnish him with timber; the Government should not exact the ruin of any man for an offense which shows no dishonest intent; and last, because the exertions of this special agent who now is enabled to make up such a damaging case, would have been all-powerful before an offense had been committed in preventing any infringement.

The Government should exact fair pay for every tree cut upon its domain, but to demand five times that rate is unjust. There is room for too much partiality in the making of cases. The punishment will not pay for the injuries done to communities through such prosecutions.

We do not believe that the Interior Department will pursue men beyond the bounds of justice, and justice will be rendered by accepting fair pay for the timber cut, and taking steps to protect Government property in future by defining its extent clearly and unmistakably.

The following morsels explain the Russo-Turkish situation:

Terms of peace not yet signed.

Ghourko, with 30,000 men, marching to San Stefano.

Austria will go to war, even alone, unless the conference modifies the terms of peace.

Russian officers and soldiers are forbidden, under penalty of death, to enter Constantinople without special permission from the Russian headquarters.

Vienna is the latest place suggested for the conference.

Russia's indemnity demands arouse fierce indignation in England and elsewhere.

The railway administration of Jersey has been ordered to suspend all goods traffic, so that the passage of Russian troops shall not be impeded.

The Roumanian troops have been obliged to recross the Danube from Widin, in order to make room for the Russian army.

Vetoes.

Those who have such an excessive reverence for the veto power should read the following:

From the inauguration of Washington to that of the present President, forty-seven bills have been vetoed and twelve pocketed—i. e. having been passed within ten days next preceding an adjournment of Congress have not been returned by the President.

Of the forty-seven vetoes sixteen became laws by the vote of two-thirds of each house. Of these sixteen, one was in Tyler's time and the remainder in that of Johnson.

Washington vetoed two; Madison vetoed five and pocketed one; Monroe vetoed one; Jackson vetoed five and pocketed seven; Tyler vetoed seven and pocketed three—one of his vetoes being passed over his head by two-thirds of both houses; Polk vetoed three; Buchanan vetoed one; Johnson vetoed twenty-one and pocketed one. Of the twenty-one vetoed by Johnson fifteen became laws by the requisite congressional majorities. Grant vetoed two.

TRESPASSERS ON PUBLIC TIMBER.—Special Agent Hobbs writes to the Secretary of the Interior Department from San Francisco, under date of the 13th instant, reporting the indictment of a number of parties for trespass on public timber near Truckee, and adding the following information: "The United States Attorney intends to frame complaints for civil actions upon evidence that will be adduced in these criminal trials, which are expected to occur within the next month." He says that experience in similar cases, tried heretofore, shows that the real delinquents cannot always be known until evidence is heard on both sides. Civil suits will be brought for the value of about fifty million feet of timber. The principal defendants are Lonkey & Smith, charged with cutting 8,832 trees, valued at two dollars each; the Truckee Lumber Company, 8,500 trees; and Sisson, Walace & Co., H. W. Roberts, Agent, charged with feloniously making way with 10,200 tress, all belonging to the Government.

Marysville has evidently resolved to have better light in future, and has taken the right means for securing it. From the Appeal of Wednesday morning we learn that M. G. Elmore is in that city, representing the interests of a company which has the required capital. Mr. E. makes, as usual, a definite business proposition to the citizens, and if they are in search of the best model for gas works ever used on the coast, the man is found in Elmore. The Reno Gas works were built by Mr. E, and are a credit to him, both in their compact and durable build, and in the quality of gas produced. The people of Marysville are progressive, and, of course, want plenty of light on the subject, they will consult their interests by accepting Elmore's plans, and this we say, not under the gas light, but under the light of experience.

The House Public Lands Committee yesterday decided to report favorably upon Luttrell's bill granting to O. U. Wozencraft and associates, at present valuation, such portions of the Colorado desert as they may reclaim by irregation, the bill to be amended in accordance with the suggestions of the Commissioners of the General Land Office, to make its terms more definite. If we understand this measure it is calculated to work very great improvements in Colorado, and we see no reason why the same generous aid should not be granted to the other sagebrush regions of this western slope. We hope to hear from Congressman Wren upon this subject.

Dennis Kearney and his associates in the management of the "The Open Letter" have been arrested on charges of libel in San Francisco. They gave bail in the sum of $1,000 each. Dennis and associates are now in Grass Valley, and we should not be surprised if Reno listened to the famous agitator.

The State Mineralogist of Georgia asserts that its gold region is richer than that of California, and that the yield will soon become enormous.

Lord Napier has been appointed Commander-in-Chief of any English expeditionary force that may be sent out.

Major-General Sir Garnet Woolsley estimates Englands available fighting strength at 418,000 men.

The rain storm in California continues.

Sensible Remarks by Senator Sargent.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—In the Senate to-day, when the House joint resolution authorizing Rear Admiral Almy of the united States Navy, to accept a decoration from the King of the Hawaiian Islands was reached, Sargent objected to its present consideration, and, by unanimous consent, he was allowed to speak longer than five minutes, as he had prepared a lengthy statement of the action of Congress on bills of this character. He said this species of legislation had grown up within the past few years, and now our officers sought every kind of present from foreign powers—from the Queen of Great Britain down to the King of the Cannibal Islands. Recently a miniature canoe was presented to the President, and Congress was not even asked to give assent to its acceptance, though he supposed it was not known that it was necessary to ask the assent of Congress that it might be accepted. Titles of nobility had been lavishly given, and there was one case where an officer of the navy had been permitted to accept such a title. This was unrepublican and should be stopped. Referring to the pending bill, he asked what were these orders bestored by King Kalakaua? "Hokee pokee weekee wum! Will you have your officers done? Decorated every one, said the King of the Cannibal Islands." [Laughter.] Sargent said we should teach our naval officers not to seek decorations. No foreign order could be worn by an Englishman unless by consent of his sovereign, and that consent has been withheld to the present day. Our officers should seek the praise of the Republic, and not that of foreign Powers. He referred to the refusal of Congress to permit the acceptance of presents by officers in the early days of the Republic, and said while calling for the dollar of our fathers we should have a little of the principle of our fathers. He would go as far as any one in rewarding officers for acts of heroism, but would not vote to allow them to accept gifts where no meritorious service had been rendered.

J. W. Marshall, the discoverer of gold in California, told a Record-Union reporter on Monday that "a flood occurred in 1845-6 which covered all the Indian mounds in the Sacramento Valley, and was so high that the water came within two feet of entering Sutter's Fort. He estimates that if Sacramento, as it stands at present, had been in existence then, the water would have been four or five feet at least above the high grade. Mr. Marshall also stated that, while in conversation on the subject of this flood with an old Hudson bay trapper, he was informed by the latter that in Winter of 1830 there was a flood in this valley which was five or six feet higher than that of 1845-6." The foregoing has a tendency to make the people inside of the levees at Sacramento happy.

We will remain in Reno but a few weeks, and feel confident that we will satisfy all who may favor us with their patronage during that time. Respectfully, 1-24tf TANDY & COOK.

A Washington dispatch says: The bill reported by Representative Eagan from the Committee on Commerce, for the regulation of inter-State commerce, and to prevent unjust discriminations as to freight charges and facilities by railroads and other common carriers, is accompanied by an elaborate report in favor of its passage The committee quotes authority to show that Congress has the power to enact such a law as it proposes, and argues that as Congress only can furnish a remedy for the evils cited, the time has come when this duty should be assumed.

That measure means a great deal to the people of this Western slope, and we shall watch the future history of the movement.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

Breen's Case.

The case of Chief Breen, charged with the liberation of Ah Chouey, the Chinese murderer, came up in Virginia City yesterday morning. Officer Bradley, who made the arrest, was sworn, and testified that Ah Chouey had been liberated by some means and Ah Dock put in his place; also, that Chief Breen had taken the matter of delivering Ah Chouey to Washoe county into his own hands. Ah Chouey was kept in the city jail when he should have been kept in the county jail of Storey county.

Isaac Chamberlain, Deputy Sheriff and Jailer of Washoe county sworn: Said that Ah Dock was delivered to him, and not Ah Chouey; that he made personal examination of prisoner, and could not be mistaken.

Mr Hepworth, of Reno: Knew Ah Chouey, and gave a description of that personage; saw a Chinaman supposed to be Ah Chouey on the day of the murder and arson in Reno; he was armed, and shortly before the alarm of fire started off in the direction of the Chinese wash-house; went to the fire and saw the body of murdered man with gun-shot wound in the head; Ah Dock (the substitute) does not look at all like the supposed murderer.

S. Beemer, of Reno, testified that he knew Ah Chouey, and gave his description; on day of murder in Reno witness ran to the fire and met Ah Chouey coming away; Chouey said he knew nothing about the fire; the officers of Washoe county have been looking for Ah Chouey since that time and without success.

Sam Barker, of Carson, testified that he saw Breen, Cowie and several Chinamen together in Carson; among the Chinamen was one who answered the description of Ah Chouey; this one did not to knowledge of witness go to Reno with the party.

Elijah Walker, of Carson Exchange, testified to the loose manner in which Breen disposed of the Chinamen in his house while waiting for the train.

Court adjourned until 10 o'clock to-day.

Messrs. Lindsay & Dickson are assisting in the prosecution.

GRAND CONCERT. — The Baptist Church Society have prepared two grand concerts for the entertainment of Reno and vicinity. The nights appointed are Friday and Saturday, March 1st and 2d. The exercises will consist of six grand choruses, several solos, vocal and instrumental, charades, tableaux, etc. The programme has been carefully rehearsed for several weeks, and we anticipate that the concerts will prove very enjoyable. The proceeds will go to the Church, and that announcement will be sufficient to crowd Reno Opera House to-morrow night.

Len Harris, if report be true, has changed his business as railroad detective and engaged in the bullion business. Len is a good officer and it is a shame that he should resign his office to become the possessor of the "slave of thousands." We are almost inclined to hope that what he has regarded as silver may yet prove to be lead, and that Chief Breen, assisted by Cowie, may find employment for their superior talents at the instance of Jim Orndorff of Virginia City. Len might desire to swap his bullion, at all events interested friends will find him at the Depot Hotel.

COMING.—Prof. Shepherd will lecture on some literary or historical subject at the Congregational Church some time after the 15th of next month. Henry Ward Beecher, of international fame and Hades-Tilton notoriety, will pass through here next month. Rev. A. Drahms will use his influence to have H. W. B. favor our citizens. A lecture from Beecher ought to draw a better house than the Richmond Troupe.

PASSED THROUGH.—James H. Borland and wife, formerly of Reno, passed through town night before last (Monday) on their way to San Francisco. Doctor Bergman informs us of the recent illness of Mr. and Mrs. Borland's son. He is, however, convalescent at present.

PUB. DOCS.—Senator Jonesas hour thanks for copies of his speech, also of the Congressional Record, covering most of the silver discussion. These are very interesting documents, and we hope our Silver Senator may continue his favors.

Jottings.

Yesterday a drunken Indian was sent up for ten days in Carson. They must be hard up for prisoners in Ormsby. Were drunken Indians hauled in our Court, our County jail would have a full attendance at meals.

A pleasant musicale will be given to-morrow evening at the Episcopal Seminary.

Barnes, Brown and other railroad magnates went below last night.

The case of Jno. Laffin, the depot arsenite, will come of to-morrow in the District Court.

There was no session of the District Court to-day.

Not an item in or about the Justice Court—quiet and orderly times there. Tough on the newspapers—satisfactory for the taxpayers.

Two hundred bars of silver bullion passed up to Carson this morning from San Francisco for coinage into the dollars of our primogenitors. Eight hundred bars yet to follow. Looks like the silver bill has passed and is to be a law.

Copies of the "Brother's Lullaby" may be obtained at Brookins & Co.

Mrs. Saltier, milliner and dressmaker, has moved into Frank Chase's store on Virginia street.

The Bunting case will be appealed to the Supreme Court.

Ten days'time has been granted the defendant to file answer to statement on motion for new trial in the Thompson-Powning libel suit.

Who has seen Ah Chouey?

We hear that even Ah Chung, nephew of the man murdered in Reno, is afraid to testify against Ah Chouey. The Reno Celestials are very chary of their tongues upon this subject.

Several of our citizens are interested in mines out East, and will visit them next month.

The Adah Richmond troupe drew a fair house last night. The acting was tame however.

Chamberlain has received some very fine ore specimens within the past few days for his excellent cabinet.

100 bars of bullion were shipped to San Francisco last night. Of this mass of the needful, 90 bars came from the Bonanza mines. Dividends for the California and Con Virginia are ensured for next month.

Feeny, the V. & T. brakeman who lost an arm and a leg at lake View, in the South end of the county, last Tuesday, died yesterday.

The Humboldt vs. Washoe county case has been decided in favor of this county, and Washoe will get the trades in due season.

The Congregational social has been postponed to one week from Friday, and will be held at the residence of Donald McKay, Friday evening the 8 inst. All are cordially invited.

Prof. Rontan is doing Wadsworth, and night before last gave one of his entertainments in that burg. He found good material in those Wadsworth people and therefore the affair was a success.

JOSE'S BOTTLING DEPOT.—Mr. A. Jose has the finest bottled cider on the coast. Jose knows how to do the business. Soda, sarsaparilla, beer and porter are also bottled at the same establishment. Drop around, under the Journal building, and try a bottle of that Oregon Champagne Cider. It is an article which no well regulated family can do without, and which those disposed to find fault with the rest of mankind should always have on hand.

CARD OF THANKS.

We, the undersigned, wish to tender our thanks to Mr. J. A. Brumsey, State Agent, and Mr James H. Marshall, City Agent of the Home Mutual Fire Insurance Company of San Francisco, for the highly satisfactory and unprecedented manner in which the representatives of the above named Company have settled their portion of the loss which we sustained at the late fire on Frisbie's corner. We take great pleasure in recommending the Home Mutual Insurance Company to the insuring public for honest, square, and high toned dealing. IVANCOVICH Bros.

Public School.

In company with Mr. Bell, one of the Trustees, we visited this forenoon the First Intermediate Department of the Public Schools. Some fifty boys and girls sat before us, evidently bent more on mischief than study, and not at all abashed that they should resort to every device to embarrass their teacher, Mr. Cantrell, who is a conscientious man, and evidently trying to perform his duty. We are not disposed to censure, but we believe that the press owes an impersonal duty to the public, and this duty is not to be shirked, especially in matters of the highest importance to the public which it serves. When, therefore, we find defects, we may, as a rule, with good results to the majority, point out those defects. When, in our judgment, certain suggestions and criticisms may advantageously be made, we hold it as our privilege, at least, to make them. In Mr. Cantrell's case there is positive need for a dismissal of the teacher, or his support by the parents and Trustees. He maintains very poor discipline, and, as a partial consequence, does not impart thorough instruction. He is an earnest man, and has sufficient talent for his position. He is, however, certainly wanting in tact. Now, let us talk a little of his pupils and their parents. The boys and girls under his charge are just of that age to be mischievous. Many of them have poor traits of character. A considerable number of them are what we would frankly say poor material for their teacher to work upon. Some of them need severe handling. And just here is where the aid of the parents is positively needed. Many parents are seemingly indifferent of their children's behavior and advancement in school, others are actively in opposition to the salutary efforts of the faithful teacher. The stories of their children they hear, and encourage their little ones in their attempts to thwart the good the teacher would do. The parent should always incline to the side of the teacher. We suggest most emphatically that parents and Trustees visit the public school and see that the teacher has their moral support and tangible sympathy. Nor let them be too ready to criticize his or her course. Mr. Cantrill's room is too small for the number of scholars under his control. The same may be said of the other departments. The Trustees should make room for the proper accommodation of the children in our schools. If they want the money, let them levy a tax and get it and then intelligently use it. If a teacher is not qualified and this fact has been determined after due trial, turn him out. There are hundreds who can teach and are ready to do so. We wage no war on anyone, nor have we any ulterior purposes to subserve. If we are wrong in the above statements, we are anxious to correct our error. If we are in the right, only good will result.

The Last Tribute.

One cannot but feel, when led into the presence of the dead, that a sense of the incomprehensibleness of this mystery of life steals upon him. We are ignorant of death, nor do we for one moment apprehend its significance. It is well, however, that that which is of daily occurrence remains as hidden from our conceptions as life itself. We behold at a distance its dim, shadowy outlines, we gaze for the moment upon the silent, upturned face, we apprehend not and, like one beholding the image of his face, straigtway forget that which we have seen. This afternoon a large number of friends, the order of which he was a consistent member, and the wife and son of our late deceased fellow citizen, Harry Noyes, gathered at the Methodist Church, and afterwards at the Masonic cemetery, to pay their last tribute to the memory of the departed. He is gone forever from our midst; earth kindly folds to her bosom her own, and his spirit has fled to its Author. "There is a realm where the rainbow never fades, where the stars will be spread out before us like the islands that slumber on the ocean, and where the beings that pass before us like shadows, will stay forever in our presence."

PROGRESS OF WOMEN IN TURKEY.—A Constantinople (January 2d) letter to the Philadelphia Press gives an interesting account of the disturbed condition of that city, the apprehensions of a revolution, and the new departure of the Turkish women. The participation of Turkish women in the care of the wounded is one of the strange things that has come to pass in this war. For the first time in the history of the country they have abandoned their habits of seclusion, shaken off their prejudice against association with Giours, and are rendering good service as nurses, cooks, and attendants in the hospitals. The English volunteer lady nurses and the French Sisters of Charity praise their willing disposition and natural intelligence. So even in Turkey there seems to be the beginning of a new era for women.

There are intimations in quarters entitled to credit that if the President does not veto the Silver bill he will assuredly accompany his approval with a message requesting supplemental legislation.

WATCHES!! JEWELRY!!

ROMAINE GOLD.

SO EXTENSIVELY WORN IN PARIS, was first discovered in 1870, by the celebrated French chemist, Mons. D. Be Dalnge, who manufactured it into jewelry, and for five years sold it to the leading jewelers of Paris for Solid Gold. In 1875, when his secret became known, ten of the manufacturing jewelers established a stock company, with a capital of $10,000,000 for the purpose of manufacturing Romaine Gold Jewelry and Watches. With this immense capital and the aid of improved machinery, they are enabled to produce all the latest patterns of jewelry at less than one-tenth the cost of solid gold, and of a quality and color which makes it impossible even for experts to detect it from the genuine.

We have secured the exclusive agency of the United States and Canada, for the sale of all goods manufactured from this metal, and in order to introduce them in the most speedy manner, have put up assorted sample lots as given below, which we will sell at one-tenth the retail value until January 1st, 1878. Read the list.
